NO. 60.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

Orville Grant was released from the New Jersey lunatic asylum, Wednesday.

The President has nominated Chas. H. Chambers to be receiver of public moneys at San Francisco.

Charles Johnston was found dead in San Francisco on the 5th.

Two Indians were sentenced to be hanged January 2d at Walla Walla, W. T., last Monday.

The Walla Walla and Columbia river railroad will, in January, pass into the possession of the Oregon steamship company.

Robert Davis killed Joseph Donnelly Wednesday, near Pleasanton, Alameda county.

William Hess was run over by a train on Thursday at Hubbard station, Or., and sustained fatal injuries.

A man was shot twice by masked men near New Awkum station, Or., on the 5th, and was robbed of $21,000, as he claims.

At a meeting of railroad presidents of the great trunk lines, in New York, it was decided that the present pooling on west-bound freight trains be continued in force for five years.

A dispatch from Paris says: Garibaldi writes to a Sicilian correspondent as follows: "The future of the world is republican. Say so openly to the Sicilian young men. For the present it behooves us to support the Carolin ministry."

Kearney, Thursday night, expressed himself as opposed to the new constitution. He said it began with fraud and would end with fraud.

A mass meeting, composed mainly of influential citizens, was held at the Varieties theatre, New Orleans, Thursday night and adopted resolutions expressing in the most eloquent and emphatic manner the gratitude of the city for the aid extended by the various sections during the prevalence of the yellow fever, and denouncing those wicked men, who would again, for selfish ends, arouse the clamors of sectional discord which this generous overflow has tended to allay forever.

See that His Grave is Kept Green. (Bodie Standard)

The "heavy writer" of the Tybo Sun, upon reading a notice of himself in the paper published in the little town "down in Alabama," where he originated, is moved to remark: "Reading it, the hand of recollection rolled away the stone of forgetfulness from the tomb of the dead past and the moldering remains of the moribund, touched by the magic wand of memory, sprang into life, vigorous life; and for a few brief moments we lived over again those halcyon days ago, before the war, ere Southern docile for neicence was vexed by pestilence, emancipation and Yankee carpet-baggers." Wonder if all this rolling away of stones and wrestling with big words in English and bad Spanish has strained the young man much?

A Tough Miner. (Bodie Standard)

Our readers will recollect that some time ago we published an account of an accident having occurred to John Muirhead, by which he sustained a fall of some eighty feet and escaped with a few severe injuries. At the time it was supposed he must have been injured internally and but slight hopes of his recovery was entertained. Through the exertions of his physicians aided by a strong constitution Muirhead recovered and we yesterday saw him at the University mine in charge of the same shaft which had so nearly proven fatal to him. We have seldom been called upon to record so marked a case of vitality as the one in point, and hope that the kind of fortune which protected him in the fearful fall down the shaft may continue to cling to him through life.

Keene's Game.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Times says: Keene's operations in wheat in Chicago had no effect upon the market here yesterday. Some people think that his design is to affect stocks by withholding large quantities of wheat from transportation and forcing the companies to finally accept low rates. He would thus be able to make a turn both ways on the difference in transportation on wheat and the decline in stock.

Rufus Hatch has arrived from New York to reinforce Keene and perhaps they will temporarily make this point their headquarters. Neither gentleman has appeared on the charge and their brokers are discreetly absent.

How to Cure An Epidemic. (San Jose Herald.)

An epidemic of horse stealing has broken out in various places in Los Angeles county. Within a few days twelve animals have been taken to parts unknown.—Exchange.

We had a similar epidemic in this vicinity a short time ago, but the police caught it and it is now in the county jail where it is not liable to break out again. In early days they used to cure these epidemics by hanging them up to dry. The remedy never failed.

A Rich Discovery. (Silver State.)

Some very rich ore has been found in what was known in early days as American district, twelve or fifteen miles south of Unionville. We have been shown a specimen of it which is about one-third horn silver, and resembles the ore found in the Moonlight, in Indian district. It only requires a capitalist of the prospector who found the ledge.

Irish Grievances.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Before the passage of the address in the house of commons, Mr. McCarthy Downing complained of the absence in the royal speech of any promise to address Irish grievances. Power and Sullivan, Irish members, protested against the address. The house secretary promised that when the list of measures for the session was produced it would be found that Ireland had not been forgotten.

Senator Jones and Canals.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Tribune's Washington special says: It is reported here to-day that General Thos. Ewing, of Ohio, and Senator Jones, of Nevada, have purchased the James river and Kanawha canal in Virginia. The line of this canal extends from Richmond to Buchanan, and was originally surveyed by General Washington.

An Inexperienced Husband.

[Virginia Stage.]
A Virginia man went home late the other night, and awoke his wife to tell her a conundrum. The wily spouse immediately tumbled to the fact that he had been to the Alhambra, and in a remarkably short time the bed-room floor resembled that of a barber-shop.

A Blow at the Texas-Pacific.

SACRAMENTO, December 6.—The constitutional convention to-day tabled the resolution requesting the California senators and representatives to support Congressman Stephen's bill granting a subsidy to the Texas Pacific railroad.

Not Charlie.

TOWANDA, Pa. December 6.—Mr. Ross returned to Philadelphia this morning after a visit to the boy claimed to be his son. The child mentioned is not the missing Charlie.

The scarcity of diamonds, gold and silver, and the difficulties met with in securing them, is a sure indication of their value. Thus it is with a valuable medicine: Dr. Aug. Kaiser's celebrated German Pulmonic Elixir, through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way; but its opponents might as well try to change the course of the sun, sweep back the ocean with a broom, or put out a prairie fire with a tear. For the cure of Throat and Lung diseases, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchial Affections it is unequalled. Its cures are truly magical. Ask your druggists, OSEBURN & SHOEMAKER, for it. The genuine bears the Prussian coat of arms, the fac-simile signature of Dr. Aug. Kaiser, and has his name blown on every 25-cent bottle. Trial bottle, 25 cents. Aurored

NEW DEPARTURE.—On and after December 1st, 1878, the store of Manning & Duck will be conducted on a cash basis. Every customer will be compelled to pay for his own goods. No extra profits for bad debts. We propose to sell goods cheaper than they have ever been sold in this market. We are compelled to this important step by several weighty reasons: First, we wish to encourage prompt payment. Second, the prompt payer should not be compelled to pay an extra profit or the slow customer or the man that never pays. Third and most important reason, we are not able to carry so large an amount of capital on our books and keep up our stock of goods. Good gift ideas customers will be allowed a credit of thirty days. If by agreement longer time is given, interest of 1% per cent a month will be charged. A. H. MANNING.
N. B. The old accounts of Manning & Duck must be settled by cash or note by the 1st of January or they will be placed in the hands of a collector for collection. A. H. MANNING.

RENO AND SURPRISE VALLEY.—California and Kern's stages will leave Reno hereafter on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 3 o'clock A. M., and reach Bidwell, Surprise Valley, at 6 o'clock on the following days. Returning, will leave Willow Ranch at 7 A. M. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, arriving in Reno at 9 P. M. on the following days. Fare, $20 each way. Freight on baggage over 50 pounds, 8 cents per pound. Of 50 at Hammond & Wilson's stable, opposite Railroad depot. JOHN WILSON, Agent.

NOTICE.—Having established a pur chasing agency, Mr. L. Bien will give his personal attention to orders of any kind, such as boots and shoes, furniture, crockery, carpets, millinery goods, groceries, etc. Being in constant business relations and having a thorough acquaintance with all the leading houses, ladies, in ordering through Mr. Bien, will receive the full benefit of his experience and find it more advantageous than doing their own shopping. "OFFICIAL INVESTIGATION."

The policemen of San Francisco were compelled to buy their new blue uniforms from the Pioneer Woollen Mills. It was found that the cloth shrank and the color ran whenever an ordinary fog prevailed. All this came out three months ago. We are now informed that "the uniform investigation was resumed yesterday and the Pioneer Woollen Mills began their defence." What exasperating impudence this is. All the testimony in the world is as nothing by the side of one shrunken faded blue coat. There is just one thing right to do in the premises—to make the mill men return the first-class price which the policemen paid for fifth-class goods. It won't be done though. By the time the matter passes through the hands of the investigating committee from the Circumlocution Office it will be proved that the highly respectable (and of course rich) gentlemen of the mill furnished cloth that did not shrink or did not lose its color. The trifling fact that the cloth which they furnished did beyond a doubt shrink and lose its color must not, of course, stand up before the testimony of several dozen highly respectable manufacturers.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The spiritual darkness of the young man of the San Jose Herald is painfully apparent in this:

The scripture says: "He that winketh with his eye causeth sorrow." That may have been true in some remote period of history, but in these days, he that winketh with his eye maketh a mash.

The [Virginia Enterprise yesterday devoted considerably more than a column of its space to reproducing the GAZETTE's report of the Cherry Creek stage robbery case, which was not published until after the close of the trial. It is odd that the Enterprise, like the GAZETTE, failed to see an account of the matter in the Carson Tribune. We both must have been blind, for the Deacon swears it was all in the Tribune a few days before the GAZETTE let the world know about the business.

The Stewart grave robbery is proving a costly affair for the New York journals. A managing editor recently said: "It has already cost us $1500 a week, keeping relays of reporters up all night at police headquarters and other points of possible interest, and it bids fair to keep up costing, with nothing to show for it except a bundle of contradictions, which first confuse and then disgust the public."—Aured rural exchange.

What managing editor was that, we wonder? One hundred and fifty reporters looking for one cadaver is division of labor on a scale which must be very fatiguing to the "relays." Usually the relay of reporters kept at police headquarters by first-class metropolitan journals has to be shaken out of his ten dollar-a-week drunken sleep by a policeman when an item turns up.

James R. Keene is the jumping-jack of speculation. He is here, there and everywhere, and the people never knew what his next move will be. Like Midas, everything he touches seems to turn to gold. But there is time yet to try him. Greater financial sharpers than he have failed.—Sac. Bee.

While we admit this to be true we yet can't but feel that it is very unkind of a brother journalist to thus rake up the past and wantonly harrow and plough our sensibilities.

When the old journalistic automaton of the Carson Tribune says that the GAZETTE follows his steady custom to the extent of at any time stealing a single line and passing it off as original, he lies, does the antediluvian scissorialist and he knows it—that being one of the few bits of knowledge in his invulnerable possession.

When anybody dies in this state it invariably turns out that he was the brightest ornament of something or other. We're all chunks of mental or moral stucco-work here in the sagebrush and we make folks know that we're around better even when we're dead than when able to drag our cowhides around the saloons.

The Stock Exchange man declines to bother himself any more about the intentions of the English general who is fighting the Afghans, because, he says, "it is the unravelling of such problems that makes editors take to drink, and transforms them into well-known journalists."

The GAZETTE recommends all its readers to go to church to-morrow. Nothing will be heard there to do anyone any harm, but very likely much will be said that will do any hearer good. The influence of attending service on Sunday upon the thought and conduct of any of us is salutary.

It looks now as though California had spent all the money that has been used by the constitutional convention to show that when California tries she can produce a bigger body of fools and rascals than any other state.

Senator Booth has introduced an important bill which gives homestead settlers on public lands, surveyed or unsurveyed, the same rights as pre-emption settlers, and relates back to the time of settlement.

The Oakland Tribune heads an item "A Practical Joke, Which Resulted in Scaring a Man Out of His Wits." We haven't dared to read it for fear that it might be an original item and affect us in the same way.

Reno supports 28 saloons and but one tar bucket.—S. F. Bulletin.

Some visitors from San Francisco are apt to think that that one is a million too many.

The bloody shirt will continue in fashion in the North so long as the red shirt is worn in the suffering South.

If Jim Keene had to pay for all the advertising he is getting at present, inside of a month he'd be striking Gould for breakfast money.

Charley Ross and Stewart's body are standing advertisements of the sleepless vigilance of the modern detective.

A REMARKABLE STORY.

The President of Guatemala Accused of a Fendish Murder.

(S. F. Chronicle, Friday.)

A year ago reports were received in this city of an attempt upon the life of Rufino Barrios, president of the Republic of Guatemala, a Catholic priest named Father Felix Pages being named as the assassin, and the statement was that the life of the president was saved by the interference of a faithful soldier named Captain Inez Cruz, who shot the priest dead. Through the arrival here by the last Panama steamer of an eye-witness, Father Antonio Launza, a Franciscan friar, at present sejourning at the St. Dominic monastery, a strange story is made public. The narrative of this priest presents President Barrios as a cruel, vindictive wretch, guilty of a cold-blooded and entirely unjustifiable homicide. In September, 1877, President Barrios gave a state dinner at San Pedro. Father Pages, the murdered priest, and Father Launza being among the guests. After the dinner the company separated into groups, one comprising the president and the two priests named. In their conversation an argument arose on the question of

THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION, the President being a skeptic. Becoming exasperated at the determined position of the priests in the affirmative, he struck Father Pages with his fist and knocked him down. The priest then endeavored to escape from the presence of the tyrant, but he was commanded to return and make an apology on his knees. Father Pages yielded to this humiliation, but Barrios then commenced beating him over the head with a cane, and to save himself from fatal injury the reverend father grappled with his assailant and both fell to the floor. At this juncture Inez Cruz, not a soldier, but a servant, rushed in and fired several shots into the body of the ill-fated priest. The firing attracted soldiers from without and by command of the president they dragged the dying priest into the street and battered his body into an unrecognizable mass. They then stripped it and left it by the wayside. It was subsequently recovered by Father Launza and buried in front of the altar in Calvary church. Information of the tragedy reached Spain, and a demand was made on Barrios for REPARATION FOR THE MURDER of a Spanish subject. The wretch made oath that the killing was in self-defense the priest having entered his room with a pistol in his hand with the design of assassination. This story was corroborated by the servant, Inez Cruz, who was rewarded for his perjury with the commission of a colonel. After this affair Col. Cruz made an attempt to assassinate the President, and was himself dispatched. Father Launza was thrown into prison and his life was in peril in consequence of his knowledge of the facts. He finally escaped through the efforts of a pious official and took refuge in San Salvador. Barrios made a demand upon the governor of that country for his return, and to avoid further peril he fled to Panama and took passage for this city. The murdered priest was greatly beloved for his pure and holy life and kindly heart. Father Launza returns to the isthmus to-day by the steamer City of Panama, his purpose being to institute measures to bring the assassin President of Guatemala to an accountability for his crime.

JOTTINGS.

It snowed some in Truckee last night.

Mrs. H. N. Haley, of Honey Lake still lies dangerously ill at the Golden Eagle Hotel.

I. Frederick has to-day been receiving a large new stock of clocks, watches, jewelry and holiday goods.

A letter addressed to Miss Lottie Williams, Plymouth, Wayne county, Michigan, is held at the postoffice for postage.

In the case of L. Richardson vs. S. F. Hoole, the supreme court has affirmed the decision of the lower court and an order of execution has been issued.

Rev. M. McKelvey has been suffering for several days from a heavy cold which has settled on his lungs. Notwithstanding his illness he will preach to-morrow.

Nearly 37,000,800 feet of lumber and timber and 65,000 cords of wood passed over the Lake Tahoe narrow gauge R. R. and through Clear Creek flume this season.

There will be a state communication of Reno Lodge, No. 13, F. and A. M. this evening. All members are requested to be present as the annual election of officers will take place.

The U. S. district court at Carson, is engaged on the Mt. Diablo mine suit. A large number of experts are waiting to be put upon the stand. Prof. Thomas Price, of San Francisco, whose card appears in the GAZETTE, is one of the men.

The practice of clipping horses is much in vogue in Carson. It is claimed to be a benefit to the animals as well as rendering the labor of cleaning them much lighter. They dry out quickly and are not obliged to stand all night in a wet coat of hair after a hard drive.

At the last meeting of Reno Chapter, R. A. M., the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Chas. Kuast, high priest; R. H. Kinney, king; G. W. Huffaker, scribe; A. H. Manning, treasurer; Jos. Debell, secretary.

The old wooden bucket, the iron-bound bucket, the tough looking bucket that holds moral tar, does more for the peace of Reno than twenty policemen would. For effectiveness and economy there is nothing like tar, after all.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

A Handsome House of Worship in Reno.

Rev. Mr. Jenvey, who is in charge of the Episcopal church of Reno during the absence at the East of Rev. Mr. Lucas, has within the past few months accomplished wonders by his energy. When Mr. Lucas went away to build up his broken health, Mr. Jenvey found the church little better than a bare barn, the walls being of unplanned boards, the seats of unpainted pine, the floor carpetless, and the chancel anything but an attractive spot. Mr. Jenvey's hobby is building and improving churches and, determined to give his brother clergyman

A PLEASANT SURPRISE on his return, set to work with a will and to-day Reno has one of the nicest little churches in the state. The unsightly tower has been cut down and improved into simplicity and architectural keeping with the remainder of the building. Formerly the doors of the building opened upon Sierra street and let in all the wind and dust that were wandering about breaking the Sabbath. Now a handsome door on Second street invites one to enter, and that opened, one finds himself in a tidy little vestibule with a pair of noiseless swinging doors before him, that admit no such vagrants as the wind. But it is the inside of the church which tells the pleasantest story. The rough walls are gone and the unsightly rafters are to be seen no more. Instead are to be seen walls of pine, diagonally laid and sized and varnished into an excellent imitation of oak. The ceiling is of the same material, the long stretch tastefully broken by strips of walnut which divide it at regular intervals into panels. The windows have been frosted and properly weighted, and the doors of walnut paneled with white pine contrast nicely with the subdued yellowish hue of the walls and ceiling. The pews have been painted to correspond with the walnut of the doors and finely-finished window casings and to make everything comfortable as well as agreeable to the eye, the floor of the main audience room and chancel has had a carpet of a red ground with a graceful black pattern laid upon it. Before Mr. Jenvey's arrival, the chancel had a rounded arch and the back sloped away. Now it is gothic in form, the slope removed and also improved by the addition of a rail in front. A door communicating with the vestry-room has been let in at the north side of the chancel, thus enabling the clergyman to enter and retire without descending into the body of the church as before. A simple cross of walnut graces the back of the chancel, and lower down is a strip of the same wood bearing upon it in ornamental letters the words

"HOLY, HOLY, HOLY."

In the centre is a cross, over and around which twine some beautifully painted passion flowers. This bit of artistic work was done by a modest friend of the clergyman who does not desire publicity. Everything about the church betokens good taste, and a great deal of real beauty has been got from very simple materials. One of the most satisfactory things about all these changes for the better is that every one of them has been paid for. About $1500 has been expended. Mr. Jenvey has been at a personal expense of over $1000, part of which, of course, he no doubt expects to have returned. But it is one of the articles of his creed that not a dollar should be owing on any house of God, and rather than saddle the church with a debt he has put his hand in his own pocket and paid the bills, so that Mr. Lucas on his return in the spring will find no discouraging arrears to struggle with.

MR. JENVEY HIMSELF.

The church building has been described and now the GAZETTE will call attention to something better. A good congregation attends this now handsome church which has for its rector a sincere Christian, a thorough gentleman and a preacher of excellent ability and good sense. Reno is honored and benefitted by his ministrations and his congregation, large as it is, ought, for our own credit, to be twice as large as it is.

Another Soul Saved

"I'm going to church to-morrow," remarked a well known citizen of Reno with a red face in Sanders' saloon this afternoon.

"Why?" demanded an astonished fellow old-timer.
"Well, you see," explained the gentleman, "I went last Sunday for the first time in nine years and I felt ever so much better than I did put in the day at pedro or poker as usual. Some how I seen' so many well-dressed, decent people in a crowd, an' hearin' the parson an' list'nin' to the hymns I used to know when I was a boy made me feel sort o' tender-hearted like. An' the feelin' didn't wear away neither. I've felt so d-d good an' pious-like all week that I could lick my weight in hoodlums this here minute. Goin' to church is the best racket, you kin bet on that. Every leadin' citizen had ought to go to church. Martin take usm'n yourself."

I give special attention to Physician's prescriptions, filling them promptly and accurately. Making my own skin extracts, elixirs, etc., I propose to fill prescriptions from medicines of known purity and strength, at as little cost to the consumer as possible. ELECTION DAY AT PYRAMID

[Some one at Pyramid (probably the wild man of the lake) sends the GAZETTE the following noble narrative poem, which at considerable expense has been having its present fascinating form.—EDITOR GAZETTE]

Oh, wasn't that a jolly day
To hear the twentys clanking!
Some were tossing coins around,
And all stood in for drinking.
Governors had no show at all.
For Sheriff was the battle.
Votes were being bought and sold
Like any other chattel.

Republicans came into camp
With Lamb for standard bearer.
The Unwashed stood up for Bill;
There could be nothing fairer.

Republicans all seemed to think
That A. K. was bound to win.
Little did they count upon
Our old Democratic gin!

The day's sport briskly opened up
With hot betting on a race
'Twixt Judge Wood and Bladell's horse.
Could a man a beast outpace?

Old Tule Frank was chose judge
And Whitehead held the money.
A race between a man and horse
Did really seem too funny.

All ready now! Stand back o'er there.
And let them go! One, two, three!
There they go at lightning speed!
Ah, this is a sight to see!

"Back Judge!" they cried, "Quick to the stake!"
His pace was just stupendous.
The way he legged it round the track
Was something quite tremendous.

Alas! the horse outran the Judge
And won the better's money.
The Judge was mad and puffing hard.
He felt it far from funny.

Hurrah for fun of my kind!
Some still were in for racing.
Down produced a demijohn:
The boys all needed bracing.

All was sweet peace and quiet then.
High betting soon began.
Fifty was the hatter made
That Walker would be the man.

"I'll take that up," said old Judge Wood,
"And I'll stake my old gray mare
That Lamb will carry the camp,
Cover the mare if you dare!"

High ran the wild excitement then:
The boys waxed wondrous frisky,
Every Christian took his share
Of Democratic whiskey.

A squad of shabby seventeen
Was all we deemed must muster.
Walker got good thirty-five—
Which made the Lambites bluster.

'Twas whiskey did the noble deed
And I'll never cease to think
That Billy's luck is due to
That good, old and healthy drink.

—AARON BURN.

Beautify Your Home.

Every man with a ranch or a town lot should watch the advertisements of R. P. Chapin. The first act of a sensible man when he starts in to build a home of his own is to set out all the trees he can find room for. Every year he postpones it is a year thrown away. He lives one year longer in a desert with no friendly shade to shield him from the winter wind and summer sun. A good orchard is a bonanza of profit and comfort combined. In a few generations Nevada's fruit crop will only be exceeded in value by her silver and cattle product. Mr. Chapin is a graduate of a standard establishment in the East, and knows his business thoroughly. He has gathered together a stock of shade, fruit and ornamental trees, fine plants and flowers from the four quarters of the earth, and there is not the slightest advantage to be gained by any one in Nevada or Utah going past his nursery to California to make purchases. He has a long glass house filled with pot plants such as geraniums, fuschias, begonias etc. Such trifles go far toward making home cheerful. They become very interesting to the ladies and relieve the monotony of a quiet life very much.

Turkey and Snipe.

Last evening a GAZETTE reporter had the pleasure of being in Lew Walker's company for over an hour. The journalist was in a silent mood and allowed Mr. Walker to do all the talking. Following is a full report of the gentleman's observations as he sat thoughtfully smoking. The reader will obligingly suppose an irregular interval of from three to ten minutes between the paragraphs:
"He was the blindest finest turkey I ever see."
"I wonder who stole him?"
"I'd kill the unmentionable who stole that turkey, if I only knew who the unnamable was."
"He was in a nice little coop in the back yard."
"He was an awful nice turkey."
"He'd have been so fat by Christ-mas that he wouldn't have been able to walk."
"I was feeding him on corn meal."
"I was going to cook him in wine. Damn the unprintable who stole him!"
"Well, I've got five snipe."
"Snipe is good."
"The only way to cook snipe is to cook 'em in butter."
"Snipe is better than turkey anyhow—cooked in butter."

Washoe's Future.

[Carson Appeal.]
The railway coming this way from Reno is delighted with the vernal appearance of the far-stretching fields of alfalfa which line the track on either side. The waters of the Truckee have been sagaciously utilized in the reclamation of the uplands contiguous to the Truckee meadows, while the meadows themselves are of the richest lands within the borders of the state. Its water power, made to do service in behalf of manufactures, and the surplus water of the Truckee, utilized for the purposes of irrigation, these invaluable adjuncts will make Washoe, in time, one of the richest countries in the state.

Don't Skip This.
A. J. Clark to-day at the end of his regular advertisement of groceries, provisions, crockery, hardware, wood and willow ware and general merchandise, announces that he has for sale at a bargain a number of No. 1 milch cows. He has also for sale 600 tons of hay in quantities to suit. He is also prepared to winter stock at the most reasonable rates.

A Pleasant Party.
There was a pleasant little invitation party at the residence of I. Frederick last evening. About 25 couples were present. Scott & Roff furnished the music. Luncheon was served at midnight and then, after another dance or two, the guests sought their homes after spending a delightful evening.

Lost on the Pomerania.
Sophus Peterson of Red Rock, in this county, was among the lost passengers of the Pomerania. He was on his way to Germany to visit his parents. He left behind him his little motherless boy in the care of ex-senator Ross and his wife. The poor child, who is but four years old, is now without either father or mother.

A Spelling Bee.
The ladies of the Methodist church will hold a spelling bee on Wednesday evening next. Professor Ring will prepare the list of orthographical stumblers and fire them at the heads of the hapless contestants. Three prizes will be given the successful ones. A small admission fee to see the fun will probably be charged.

Talk is Cheap.

And so are fine clothing, boots, shoes, hats and gentlemen's and boys' fine furnishing goods, if you go to the right place to get them. This is a mighty important point, for some people who assert that they sell cheap do nothing of the kind. I do not boast when I say that I defy competition in prices in anything in my line. Besides this I have only one price. I have no preferred customers. Everybody is treated alike at my establishment. My stock is the largest and most complete ever offered in any part of this State. Everything I have is new. No old, musty and out-of-date goods can be found on my shelves. I receive daily by rail and express the latest and best goods, which are obtained at first hand and sold at prices below those now prevailing in New York and Chicago. Let the people come and judge of my prices and examine my stock before going into those humbugging, Cheap John shops, in which they drum into the ear of the customer that they sell at cost and even below cost. Anybody with common sense must know that they lie. No storekeeper sells goods for the fun of the thing. I make a profit on everything I sell, as ever honest merchant does, and don't print foolish falsehoods in the vain hope of deceiving the public. One must make a profit to live. I particularly call attention to my full stock of fancy underwear, such as is kept nowhere else in Reno. This class of goods form one of my specialties. Remember the place. C. Jeff. Brookins.

General Variety Store, Reno, Nevada—Pianos, organs and all kinds of musical instruments sold on the installment plan at genuine Eastern prices. Brookins has just received an immense stock of Holiday Goods, the finest and largest assortment that was ever brought to Reno. China tin, Britannia sets of dishes, vases, Toilet wine and smoking sets, Mustache Cups, Mugs and Flower pots. The finest and lowest priced Albums that has ever been heard of. Games of Authors. Across the Continent, etc. wall pockets and brackets. This stock will be sold very cheap. Bird Cages and Hooks, Toy Pianos Jumping Jacks, Magic Lanterns, Jack in Box, Rocking Horses, Wagons, Carts, Wheelbarrows, toy perambulators, bed-room sets, tables, sideboards and bureaus, tumbling harlequins, watches, building and A B C blocks, silver bell and rubber rattles. A magnificent and very large stock of dolls, wax worked and China, Papiermaché, French kid with flexible joints, walking and talking dolls. Jeff invites special attention to these dolls, as he is determined to sell them so cheap that our people will buy. On account of Brookins' store being too small to exhibit his wonderful stock, he has leased the Reno Furniture Store, where he invites everybody to call and see his goods, and if they can go through his rooms without buying something to make the hearts of the little ones glad, they can beat me.

Happy Thoughts.

[Stock Exchange.]

A contemporary says: "Queen Margaret of Italy is said to be one of those happily constituted women who never feel fatigue." There is a fine opening for her in Virginia city as cook for Sam Davis of the Chronicle.

E. H. Dwinelle, a lawyer, will lecture to the university students next week, on "Agriculture as a Profession." On the following week the gentleman who keeps the hog ranch at Temescal ought to lecture on "Law as a Fine Art."

The Grass Valley Union asserts that there are evidently some bad characters in Grass Valley at present who ought to be behind prison bars. We had an idea that it was punishment enough for any character to be compelled to live in Grass Valley.

A miser named Hawkins had his upper lip bitten off during an argument with a fellow Cornishman in Grass Valley last Saturday. He ought to go to Virginia city and apply to Superintendent McKenzie for a situation. In the Sierra Nevada just now the less lip a man has the better.

If the Chronicle carrier could make it convenient to leave the paper at the Exchange editorial rooms a little earlier than a quarter to 8 o'clock each morning he would confer a favor on us. How does he expect we can settle down to our day's work without knowing all that Kearney has said on the previous evening to the Tar Flat branch of the tenth ward Working-men's Anti-Coolie and Anti-Labor society?

A Good-Natured Prince.

[London Letter.]

One principal reason why the Duke of Edinburgh is so much less known and so much less popular than his eldest brother is because he is exceedingly shy and therefore very retiring. So shy, indeed, is he, that when he has to make a speech in public it is a painful effort to him, whereas the Prince of Wales, without necessarily losing an inch of real dignity, is "hail fellow, well met" with his intimate friends, and as a rule, sociable and pleasant, not to say often jolly, with other people. He has also the happy knack of turning aside or answering good humoredly—his tact and happy temper are proverbial—the most embarrassing and at times, it must be confessed, impertinent remarks. Fancy a man—to be sure, it is said he had not the slightest idea who it was addressing—asking the Prince if he had ever heard a report that the Queen was in the habit of drinking to excess, and if he thought it was true? Yet this is an actual fact; I mean that the question was put; not, of course, that her Majesty imbibes. But it is also a fact that the lady hailing from your side of the Atlantic did earnestly inquire of the Prince (well knowing too who he was) if it were true that his mother was about to marry Lord Beaconsfield. It has been hinted that, although the most dutiful of sons repaid with due solemnity, if not assumed horror at the bare idea of such a contingency, he could not succeed in entirely suppressing an amused smile.
